PARENTING TOOLS

ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Emily McMason is a parent coach and sleep consultant, as well as a Parent Educator at South Puget Sound Community College. She has a Master's degree in Education from Harvard, a graduate certificate in Parent Coaching from the PCI at Seattle Pacific University, and completed a postgraduate program dedicated to childhood sleep. Emily's private practice is in Olympia, but she works with parents all over the globe.

Come join Parent Coach & Educator Emily McMason for an evening that addresses one of the most challenging parts of parenting - discipline. We'll talk about how to keep our cool and stay connected to our kids in ways that transform "Those moments" from something we dread to something we know how to navigate with ease.

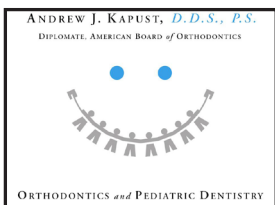

This FREE training is provided complements of the sponsors noted below. Featuring the wisdom of parenting coach Emily McMason. There will be additional time for Q&A covering any other parenting issues at the conclusion of the presentation.
